U. S. BUREAUS HIT IN TALK TO GOVERNORS

Utah Executive Declares Federal Bureaus Now Greatest Lobby Power in Capital.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 23—Gov. Herbert D. Maw, Democrat of Utah, today urged the nation's governors to map a finish fight against the "greatest lobbying power in Washington—the federal bureaus."

Administration of federal aid programs must be wrested from "so-called non-political" agencies and placed in the hands of the state governments after the war to maintain the "sovereignty of the people," Maw asserted in an address prepared for the closing session of the 35th annual governor's conference.

"I am talking to a group of men and women who know the plain fact that the states can never again be brought into their own until the greatest lobbying power in Washington—the federal bureaus—have been overcome," the Utah chief executive declared.

"The problem is not a political one," he added. "It is bigger than politics, for it is difficult to see that either political party will take a chance on antagonizing three million federal employes and the five or ten voters that each of them can influence by making a political issue of the subject."

Proposes Governors Handle Work

Maw urged the governors to promote a program under which congress would designate governors of several states instead of Washington bureaus to carry out federal road building, welfare, public work, unemployment and other federal aid projects.

Placing the bureaus under civil service removed them from the control of elected officials and the voters, Maw contended.

"Today the bureaus are non-political," he asserted. "They owe their allegiance to no party. They are affected by no elections. They are not controlled by the will of the public. Yet they are one of the strongest single political influences in the nation, throwing the weight of their huge voting power not necessarily in support of those candidates of either party . . . but in support of those who will sustain them in their bureaucratic security and will not disrupt their organizations.

Study Post-War Plans

The governors' conference considered today at its concluding session recommendations of a special interstate committee to pursue frugal fiscal policies until the war end and to formulate plans to prevent unemployment during the transition to a peacetime economy.

The interstate committee, including representatives from each section of the nation, reported delegates to a series of regional meetings agreed the major post-war problem is "full employment of all who want to work," and said its solutions would "require the closest cooperation on the part of government."

It said "government has a threefold duty with respect to the post-war period: To support and implement the efforts of private industry to supply employment for all who are able and willing to work; to supplement the job-creating efforts of private enterprise through worthwhile public works when necessary, and to develop and supply such public facilities and services as may be needed to protect and improve our American standard of living.

Southern Sentiment Sampled

A sampling of views of southern governors, both on and off the record, disclosed today that while there is considerable dissatisfaction below the Mason-Dixon line with certain New Deal policies, traditionally Democratic stronghold will support the Democratic ticket next year, fourth term or no.

Some state heads attending the governors' conference here declare plain, however, they would insist certain platform demands at the 1944 national convention as "determining points," and that the south's big block of votes would not be cast for Roosevelt without some concessions.

Freight rates allegedly discriminating against the south, poll tax repeal, the race question and party patronage are the big "sore spots" in party affairs in their section, the governors said. But they believe these could be healed "within the party framework."

Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio was mentioned informally today as a likely successor to Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor, Maryland Democrat, as chairman of the governors' conference.

COAL MINERS RETURN TO JOBS AS STRIKE ENDS

Lewis Orders Miners Back to Work, But Operators Say Issue Just Postponed.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 23 — A back-to-work movement in Pennsylvania and West Virginia captive mines signaled the end today of the nation's third general wartime coal strike, with indications pointing to virtually full-scale production tomorrow.

Responding to instructions from UMW President John L. Lewis and his policy committee, the men who dig coal for the big steel companies led off the return to work—a return ordered only until Oct. 31 and conditional upon continued government operation of the mines.

These conditions led operators and others to protest that the main issue—a new contract embracing portal-to-portal pay—was merely postponed, not settled.

Except for the captive mines, few pits returned immediately to production as local unions awaited receipt of the formal order to go back to work. Partial crews showed up at some shafts, but operations were far from normal.

To Obey Instructions

Despite some expressions from union leaders of dissatisfaction with the settlement, an early check indicated no move to disregard the policy committee's order.

Resumed production for the steel plants—although on a reduced scale — removed the immediate threat to war production and led steel company officials to cancel plans for further curtailment of operations.

In addition to specifying that the government must not restore direction of the mines to their owners, the union's back to work order carried a broad indication that the miners would resort to the courts to obtain the underground travel pay denied them by the WLB.

A statement issued in behalf of the Appalachian operators declared the action of the UMW policy committee "is in direct violation of the war labor board's directive of June 18.

Says Nothing Settled

"If the President," said the operators, referring to Mr. Roosevelt, "permits the mines to be operated under the terms laid down by John L. Lewis, the main issue goes unresolved. Nothing is settled. The present strike is merely postponed. The main question now is, can Mr. Lewis continue to defy the sole agency designated by the United States government to make final determinations in labor disputes."

The immediate reaction of WLB Chairman Davis to the miners' decision was expressed in these words:

"I take Mr. Lewis' statement to

MUELHEIM HIT BY STORM OF BLOCK BUSTERS

Raid Costs England 35 Bombers; Other Planes Smash at Palermo in Italy.

By The Associated Press

Germany's war foundries in the Ruhr underwent a violent new storm of bombs before dawn today as hundreds of RAF block-buster raiders attacked the steel center of Muelheim (pop. 136,000) and returned by the light of great fires still burning from an assault on nearby Krefeld 24 hours earlier.

NDB, the German news agency, said the British also hit Oberhausen in the Ruhr, inflicting heavy damage, and bitterly characterized the attacks as "terror" raids.

An RAF communique listed 35 bombers as missing — nine less than in Monday night's raid by more than 700 planes—for a two-day toll of 70 aircraft.

The ancient city of Muelheim is the site of important steel rolling mills, foundries and engine works. It lies seven miles west of battered Essen, home of the giant Krupp munitions works.

In the Mediterranean, the paralyzing three-way attack on Italy from allied bases in North Africa, the middle east and Malta apparently slackened yesterday, but Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced that RAF Wellingtons again blasted Salerno on the Italian mainland Monday night.

The night raid followed up an intensive hammering of seven Italian mainland cities in daylight Monday, ranging from bomb-scarred Naples, Italy's biggest port, to the toe of the Italian boot.

Salerno Heavily Hit

Sweeping in with heavy bomb loads less than 12 hours after American bombers had jolted the same targets by daylight, Wellingtons of the RAF in Africa smashed at Salerno Monday night in a continuation of allied efforts to knock out the underpinnings of Mussolini's supply system for southern Italy and Sicily.

Two-ton blockbusters were planted squarely in the freight yards and near barracks at Salerno, 30 miles southeast of Naples, and huge fires broke out, allied headquarters said.

Salerno is a key point on the main electric railway running southward from Naples to the Italian toe. The American raid already had caused extensive damage to the many railways there, and reconnaissance reports showed railway traffic already had been interrupted for 24 hours.

The Wellingtons encountered only light anti-aircraft fire. No planes were lost.

The only other aerial activity of the northwest African air forces yesterday was patrolling and reconnaissance.

Enemy Vessel Sunk

But a medium-sized enemy vessel, which was caught towing half a dozen barges 30 miles off the southeast coast of Sardinia the previous night, was sunk by RAF Beaufighters.

One allied plane was lost in all yesterday's operations.

(The broadcast Italian communique, acknowledging the raid on Salerno, said also that Castelvetrano and Milazzo in Sicily, and Olbia in northern Sardinia had been bombed and machine-gunned. Forty-one were reported killed and 50 injured at Salerno and five killed and 55 injured in the Messina Straits area).

The northwest African air force announced that reconnaissance photos showed 40 per cent of the Italian royal arsenal was destroyed by flames and explosions in the Flying Fortress attack on Naples Monday.

Other damage included at least three direct hits on the torpedo factory, severe damage to an air frame works, several hits on the artillery barracks and motor transport depots, at least 25 hits on the central station and railway sidings, 10 hits on the locomotive sheds, two hits on the roundhouse, a hit on the turntable and destruction of many freight cars on the tracks.

At nearby Cancello the entire motor transport and stores depot was devastated and 16 buildings were destroyed, the photographs showed. Four fires were still blazing 24 hours after the raid.

Continue European Blows

Meanwhile, the British announced in London that heavy RAF bombers blasted the German steel and communications center of Muelheim in the Ruhr last night in a continuation of a mighty round-the-clock allied aerial offensive.

An air ministry communique said preliminary reports indicated the bombing was "well concentrated" and declared returning crews reported they had seen great fires still burning in Krefeld, main objective of a smashing RAF assault on the Rhineland

DETROIT RIOT TOLL HITS 29

Restrictions Eased as Order Is Restored; War Plant Production Slowed.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, June 23—Riot-ravaged Detroit Negro sections remained under armed seige today as the death toll from two days of racial disorders mounted to 29 and civil and military authorities appealed to workers to resume work to offset a drop in war production caused by the rioting.

Sporadic outbursts of violence continued last night despite patrols of troops, sent into the area under a proclamation by President Roosevelt. At least six Negroes were injured.

Throughout most of the night, the streets were virtually deserted.

Restrictions Eased

Military restrictions were eased last night by Gov. Harry F. Kelly, permitting playing of today's double header between the Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians and the resumption of horse racing.

The riot toll climbed to 29 with the death last night of a white woman who was wounded by gunfire during a police battle with snipers. She was the fourth white victim of the riot.

C. M. Bolds, regional labor representative for the war production board, estimated from 50 to 90 per cent of the city's Negro war plant workers remained away from their jobs Monday and Tuesday.

Production Suffers

Industrial leaders expressed fear the curtailment would drastically reduce deliveries of planes, tanks, military vehicles, guns and other war materials.

More than 700 persons were injured in the fighting which started Sunday night from a minor disturbance on famous Belle Isle resort in the Detroit river.

Law enforcement authorities arrested a reported 1,250 persons, of whom 34 were sentenced yesterday to 90-day reformatory terms.

Universal Cooler Joins Select War Bond Group

Another Marion war plant, the Universal Cooler Corp., has been certified as a 100 per cent-10 per cent bond buying organization by the Marion county war bond committee. The corporation's nearly 700 employes are participating in a regular bond purchase schedule and several months ago the county war bond committee honored the plant as a 100 per cent firm. At present pay deductions for the purchase of war bonds amounts to 10.48 per cent of the total payroll, company officials reported to the bond committee.

1,100 Federal Auto Tax Stamps Purchased Here

To date 1,100 federal auto use tax stamps have been sold, receipts at the Marion postoffice show. Twelve thousand of the stamps, which sell for $5 each, were placed on sale June 10.

Less than two weeks remain in which motorists can purchase stamps if they expect to drive their cars after July 1, the expiration date for the present stamp. The stamps can be purchased at the postoffice through July, Postmaster L. L. Lamborn states.

Giraud and DeGaulle Army Recruiting Feud Looms Again

Duel for Power Expected To Be Resumed After Agreement; Each To Lead Separate Factions.

By The Associated Press

ALGIERS, June 23—One of the hottest issues in French North Africa—army recruiting—came to the fore today as the French forces of liberation remained divided in allegiance between two commanders in chief, Generals Charles De Gaulle and Henri Giraud.

It was apparent the duel for power between the two leaders and their factions would be quickly resumed following a compromise settlement yesterday continuing the status quo in military control.

Giraudists indicated they were insisting recruiting be on a territorial basis, thereby excluding the Fighting French from drawing manpower from North Africa.

De Gaullists declared that not only were they threatened with a "freeze out" in North Africa where they asserted many civilians wanted to join the Fighting French, but also that those escaping from France also were being channeled into the North African army.

Giraud Retains Authority

To observers it seemed plain Giraud would have the final say on army recruiting in North Africa just as he remains completely in the saddle over other French military affairs in this base of allied operations where he enjoys the support of the United States and Britain.

Until now American equipment has been delivered to Giraud and it seemed likely his forces would continue to get first call on these arms.

Belief the United Nations will recognize the French Committee of National Liberation shortly as the provisional government of France was expressed as the compromise settlement announced today restored harmony to the factions of Generals De Gaulle and Giraud.

Yesterday's agreement on the military control both leaders had sought in effect continues the status quo—Giraud retaining command of French troops in North and West Africa while De Gaulle will command the forces in other empire territories.

Backed by U. S., Britain

Formal recognition has been withheld by the allies pending committee unity, and the compromise was reached after the United States and Britain were reported to have insisted on Giraud's continuation as African commander while this area remains an allied base.

Commenting on the committee decision, Jean Monnet, minister of armaments and acting information commissioner, said:

"This is unity. Anything else would be unthinkable."

The decision was "absolutely unanimous in the committee," he said, and added "it is a practical and realistic method of bringing about a unified, single French army, which is so essential."

Monnet said the committee could arbitrarily have ordered fusion of the French forces under one commander, but that "would have evaded the real questions.

Meat Supplies Here Dwindle, Dealers Report

Unless supplies increase from slaughter houses throughout Ohio and the mid-west in the next few days, Marion residents can expect a few meatless days in the next two weeks, meat dealers here predict.

Of eight of the city's larger meat dealers contacted by The Star yesterday, six reported their supplies of meat, especially beef, were dwindling. And, unless unexpected shipments are received in the next day or so, over half of this number expect to have exhausted their present supplies by Saturday.

Only one of the eight dealers said he expected to replenish his stock before Saturday. The same dealer said "we're pretty well healed right now." He was unable to say what shape his stock would be after the usual Thursday-Saturday rush.

One other store, which has been able to keep its stocks up by operating on an allottment schedule fixed by the parent concern, reported a "pretty good" supply of meat of all types on hand now but the store manager said he expected a mild pinch next week.

With the exception of one dealer who does his own butchering and consequently is affected only slightly by the shutdown in production, all others voiced a belief they would be completely out of beef and low on other types of meat by the end of the week.

In Columbus The Associated Press reported 60 meat dealers in the central market discontinued business yesterday at least for the present. Only meat available at markets there was that held over from last week.

REPORT RAIL RAISE PROPOSAL SET ASIDE

Stabilization Director Said To Have Killed 8-Cent Boost.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 23—An informed source said today that Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson has issued an order setting aside an emergency board's recommendation of an 8-cent hourly increase for more than a million non-operating railway employes.

Vinson's order, it was learned from this source said the emergency board may reconsider its award on the basis of a memorandum he will prepare within ten days.

However, a legal complication arose because the board has been disbanded and no one could say immediately how it would be legally reconvened unless by President Roosevelt himself. It was appointed originally by Dr. William M. Leiserson, chairman of the national railway labor panel.

MARION COUNTY FLIER KILLED

Pilot F. F. Kinsler, Formerly of Agosta, Reported Dead by Navy.

Chief Aviation Pilot Floyd Fay Kinsler of the U. S. Navy, son of Clifford Kinsler of Agosta, proprietor of the Shamrock grill at 494 West Center street, and Mrs. Gayle Kinsler of Cincinnati, was killed in a plane crash June 17 "while in the performance of his duty and in the defense of his country," Rear Admiral Randall Jacobs, chief of Navy personnel, notified the youth's father in a wire received here Monday night. Kinsler was 26.

First word of the flier's death was received here Sunday night when relatives in Cincinnati notified Mr. Kinsler and other relatives living here. Upon learning of his son's death, Mr. Kinsler wired Navy headquarters in Washington for further details. In answer to his query the following wire was received from Admiral Jacobs:

"The Navy department deeply regrets that prior notification regarding the death of your son, Floyd Fay Kinsler, chief aviation mate, U. S. N., was impossible due to the fact your address was not listed. It has now been added to the records of this bureau. Your son was killed the seventeenth of June, 1943, as the result of an airplane crash while in the performance of his duty and in the service of his country. Information regarding disposition of remains is not now available but will be forwarded to you promptly when received . . . ."

Place of Crash Not Known

While the Navy notification failed to indicate where the fatal crash may have occurred, members of the family living here said Chief Kinsler was last stationed in California, where he was on coast patrol duty.

Kinsler enlisted in the Navy at Cincinnati about 10 years ago. Up to the time of his enlistment he lived with his grandmother, Mrs. Clara Kinsler, on a farm three miles northeast of Agosta. Mrs. Kinsler now lives at 249 Gurley avenue.

He attended Agosta school for several years and was enrolled in a Cleveland High school for two years prior to entering the Navy. He received his basic naval training at the Great Lakes, Ill., naval training station and received advanced training at naval bases at San Diego, Calif., Norfolk, Va., and Pensacola, Fla. He was an instructor in aviation mechanics at the latter station for two years. He graduated from the same station about two years ago as a naval pilot.

On Important Missions

Since then he has completed a number of important assignments. While on a patrolling mission last fall Kinsler was a member of the crew of a Catalina flying boat which was credited with shooting down an enemy patrol plane off the west coast. Details of the incident appeared in leading San Francisco papers and an item was published in The Star after relatives here were informed of the victory.

Kinsler was born Oct. 28, 1917, in Marion county. Surviving besides the parents and grandmother are two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Stets of 912 Oak Grove avenue and Miss Avis Kinsler of Cincinnati, and one brother, Bernard Kinsler, also of Cincinnati.

TWO KILLED IN ASHLAND BLAST

Marion Man Hurt as Fireworks Explode About Erie Train.

Clarence E. Beck, 40, of 903 Maynard avenue in Marion was injured and two other trainmen were killed at 1 a. m. today in an explosion of a shipment of fireworks being loaded at the Ashland depot of the Erie railroad this morning. The Associated Press reported. The fireworks were being loaded on an express train at the depot which is near Ashland's business district.

Mr. Beck and Henry Dufner, 31, and Oliver Highman, 30, both from Ashland, still are in the Ashland City hospital for treatment and observation. Dufner was reported in a critical condition.

Mr. Beck's condition is reported as good. He suffered face lacerations that were described as not being serious. An X-Ray of his jaw was taken this morning to determine whether he should be discharged from the hospital today.

Desk Sgt. E. E. Feazel of the Ashland police department said the dead and all but one of the injured men burned or cut in the blast were railroad employes. He identified the two killed as Gene McMurray, 48, of Ashland, and James Velle of Meadville, Pa., expressman on the train.

Two others, Merle Crandall and William Gray, both of Ashland, were given emergency treatment and then released, the hospital said.

Feazel said cause of the explosion had not been determined. The fireworks, manufactured at nearby Polk and of the type intended for home use, were set off while railroad employes were placing them aboard the westbound express.

The express car caught fire and flames spread to the Erie depot. The force of the blast shattered windows in the depot, in at least two coaches at the rear of the train, and in homes, stores and factories within a radius of 500 feet of the station, Feazel said.

RUSSIAN BOMBERS POUND NAZI AIRPORTS

Also Hit German Supply Depots, Shoot Down 17 Planes.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 23 — Russian bombers hammered again at Nazi airdromes behind the lines last night but the only ground activity reported today by the midday Russian communique consisted of scouting and artillery bombardments.

About 20 German planes were destroyed on the ground when Red army airmen struck behind the enemy's defenses on the Leningrad front, and three enemy planes were downed in air combat near Roslov, said the bulletin.

Yesterday, the Russians said their airmen bombed supply depots and airdromes at several points along the front and shot 17 enemy planes from formations attempting to attack the Leningrad sector. The Russian bulletin admitted the loss of nine Russian fighters during the aerial combats.

U. S. HOLDS HEAVY EDGE IN SOLOMONS

Nips Lose 10 Times As Much Shipping As Americans.

By J. NORMAN LODGE

GUADALCANAL, June 23—Without giving false hopes to the United States, the thought arises: Just how long can the Japanese take the present air pounding in the South Pacific and still maintain a semblance of composure.

For instance, take the figures of the commander of air in the Solomons which state that from last Aug. 20 to June 11 of this year airmen working from that island have sunk 148 "tons of" merchant Japanese shipping as our forces have lost to enemy action in the Solomons theater.

The record for this period shows our planes and crews a score of three Japanese aircraft downed in aerial combat to one of our planes.

We have announced nearly half the personnel of U. S. planes shot down.

Canadian Public Opinion Polled on Union with U.S.

The Canadian Institute of Public Opinion, with headquarters in Toronto, was founded in 1941 and is affiliated with and supplying to 32 daily newspapers throughout Canada the latest methods developed by the American Institute of Public Opinion. It conducts regular surveys of Canadian opinion on vital issues confronting the Dominion.

By GEORGE GALLUP

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 23—Many conflicting claims have been made by public speakers and writers, on both sides of the Canadian-American border, about the attitude of the Canadian people toward their Dominion's future role in the British Empire.

To determine whether the majority of Canadians want to continue as part of the British Empire, or join with the United States, or become an entirely independent nation after the war, the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion has conducted a survey throughout all the eight provinces of Canada.

Field reporters put the following question to a cross-section of the Canadian population so selected as to reflect accurately the views of the whole country:

"Which of these things would you like to see Canada do after the war?

"(1) Continue as a member of the British Commonwealth as at present.

"(2) Leave the British Commonwealth and become a part of the United States.

"(3) Leave the British Commonwealth and become a completely independent nation."

The results are:

Continue as member of British Commonwealth	49%
Become part of the United States	21
Become an independent nation	24
Undecided	6

Taking out the six per cent of the population which is undecided, the results show some 52 per cent of those with an opinion on the matter would choose remaining in the Commonwealth, 22 per cent would favor union with the United States, and 26 per cent would like to see Canada become an independent nation.

Since the Canadian population is a composite of many nationalities, it is not surprising to find opinion dividing fairly sharply on the basis of ancestry.

For example, Canadians of British ancestry are, by a big majority, in favor of continuing within the orbit of the Empire. Canadians of French ancestry, however, are more inclined to favor a completely independent nation, outside the Commonwealth.

Canadians whose origin is neither French nor British lean towards union with the United States. Many of the latter are either of United States origin, or those who came from Europe via the United States.

This table shows the way opinion divides when the results are viewed on the basis of country of origin:

	Brit.	French	Other
Continue in Commonwealth	66%	22%	34%
Join U. S.	13	19	37
Become independent	11	50	18
Undecided	4	9	11

Back of these figures, the polls have shown, is a fundamental difference in the way nationality groups view the position of Canada in the Commonwealth. The majority of French-speaking Canadians, for example, unlike a majority of English-speaking Canadians, do not view Canada as an independent nation in an association of similarly independent nations, but as still dependent on Great Britain. This was revealed when, some months ago, the Institute put this question to the electorate: "Do you think of Canada as an independent country or as still dependent on Great Britain?" A majority of French-speaking Canadians answered "still dependent," while a majority of English-speaking Canadians replied "an independent country."

Of the eight predominantly English-speaking provinces, Ontario contains proportionately more people who favor the Commonwealth affiliation than do the other provinces, although in each of the eight provinces the largest number voted for continuation of this arrangement.

In the Maritime provinces, in Ontario, the Prairie provinces, and in British Columbia, union with United States ranked as second choice to remaining a member of the Commonwealth, with complete independence third. In Quebec, where the largest group favored complete independence, the second largest group favored remaining within the Empire. This is shown in the following table:

	Stay in Commonwealth	Join with U.S.A.	Become Independent	Undec.
Maritimes	58	23	12	7
*Quebec	24	18	50	8
Ontario	64	20	11	5
Prairies	57	26	11	6

Films of Marion county wildlife and camping activities were shown to three boys' organizations of the Marion Y.M.C.A. in the club room of the Y Monday afternoon by O. H. Neimeyer, state game warden of Marion county.

These films were shown in connection with nature study classes held every Wednesday and Saturday at county game reservations under the direction of Mr. Neimeyer.

Pictures of the habitats and traits of various forms of animal life were shown by Mr. Neimeyer. Constructive conservation measures taken on county reservations within the past year were also shown. A typical day's activities in Camp Nelson Dodd, near Mt. Vernon, which Marion Y members attend every summer, was shown and explained by Mr. Neimeyer.

Groups seeing the films were the Friendly Indian, Gra-Y and Pioneer clubs. All of these organizations are under the supervision of Max Sechrist, boys' summer program director of the Y.

Nature classes were postponed last Saturday but will resume Wednesday when the Pioneers visits another county reservation. Mr. Neimeyer expects the boys to continue with the planting of trees, some of which were planted last Saturday by the Friendly Indians.

J. E. BOHN ROTARY CLUB SPEAKER HERE

Head of Ashland Schools Discusses Post-War Problems.

Julius E. Bohn, superintendent of schools in Ashland and district governor of the Rotary club, spoke at the weekly noon luncheon meeting of the Marion Rotary club at Hotel Harding yesterday. This marked Mr. Bohn's third and final official visit to Marion since he became governor about a year ago.

Subject of his talk was "A Rotarian's Viewpoint Toward Post-war Planning" which concerned the many problems confronting this country and her allies after the war.

Mr. Bohn divided the American people into three main groups in their attitude toward post-war planning: first, those who don't want to enter into preparations for post-war planning too rapidly and who wish to return "to the normal conditions as they existed before the war"; second, those who wish to forget the past and to start anew with a newly devised pattern of progress; and third, which Mr. Bohn said represent the majority of Americans, those who wish to take the good out of the pre-war world and the good out of the post-war proposals and combine the two for a sound and effective program.

In the course of address, Mr. Bohn congratulated the Marion organization for the good record it has maintained through many years of service.

Wilson Tway, president of Marion club, announced at yesterday's meeting that plans have been completed for the Marion club's participation in the institution of a new club at Upper Sandusky Monday night. He said that he and several other members of the club will be present at the launching of the new organization. They will assist in the presentation of a flag from the Marion and Tiffin clubs to the Upper Sandusky club.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10c and 25c.

It Didn't Hurt So Much

FIRST point of gasoline rationing draws to a close as motorists begin to make application for renewal of their "A" books which will expire July 21 and most drivers here found that inconvenience not nearly so painful as they had anticipated. We are speaking, of course, of the mid-west area. The east was punched much more severely.

Driving habits of the people have undergone a change. The Sunday pleasure trip has nearly disappeared. Vacation automobile travel has been put aside until after the war. People are much more inclined to double up and make one car do the work of two or three. The important fact in all this is that automobiles are running and are getting people to places where they have to go.

It is somewhat surprising that so great a change could have been brought into the American way of living with such a minimum of confusion and so little complaint. Very few people kick about rationing. They don't like it but they accept it as one of the inevitables of war.

Of course there has been some chiseling. That is not so surprising as the fact that the great majority of motorists have observed the new regulations without too much complaint and without any great dislocation of an industrial and social life which grew up around the family car.

We are so used to it by this time that the period which starts with the new "A" books on July 22 will hardly cause a ripple.

Fighting Among Ourselves

MOST disturbing thing facing the American people today is the conflict between factions within their own ranks. Open fighting between zoot suiters and service men on the west coast, bloody and destructive race clashes in several cities, battling and bickering between groups all up and down the American scene are danger signals on the road to victory.

Several factors contribute to the trouble. One of the most important is the fact that millions of people have been transferred from one community to another because of the needs of war industry. Often they come into a community so different from the one they have left that adjustment to the new conditions is difficult. They bring prejudices and opinion that do not fit into their new surroundings.

New economic conditions help to breed trouble. Crowded housing, insufficient transportation facilities, problems occasioned by children unfamiliar with the fields to which they have been transplanted—all these help to stir the unrest that breaks out in such disturbing fashion.

This is the time when America needs internal unity as never before. It is a time when prejudices must be laid aside, tempers tamed and opinions modified. The war effort demands the work of all the people and they can't fight Hitler while they are fighting among themselves. All-out for victory means all together for that end. When any set of Americans fights any other set it is doing a better job for the enemy than the same number of his own soldiers at the battle front.

Congress and OWI

THE effects of office of war information's information on Europeans, Asiatics, South Americans, North Africans, Australians and members of the Axis cannot be determined. Probably no one will ever know.

Effects of the agency's domestic information, on the other hand, are well known. They are irritating. To some they are irritating to the point of dynamic anger. To others they are irritating as a picture hanging crooked is irritating—something that should be straightened out sometime.

It cannot be said that OWI has sold itself completely to anyone, but decidedly it has not made a favorable impression on congress as a whole. In this kind of a government that is serious, because congress must give agencies the money they spend.

The house has refused to appropriate money to continue the domestic function of OWI, which is as close to a vote of no-confidence as the legislative branch can come to in a government where governments are elected for fixed terms. Even if the senate now tries to undo the damage and restore the money, OWI will continue to be under attack.

Elmer Davis, its director, who recently lost out the press and seems to be edging toward the jobholders' characteristic conviction of his own infallibility, may have persuaded a lot of other people but he still hasn't persuaded the custodian of the public money he is spending.

Attempt To Cut Off Moscow Seen in Nazi Air Battles Around Orel.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 23—Terrific, ... massive Russian and ... guns have been reporting casualties, particularly in planes, as a result of inexplicable ... a period fixed in the center of ... front.

The Reds ... Nazi planes ... last week, 3,595 in the past seven weeks.

Complete facts in the figures ... necessary to appreciate the ... but what a lot of unreported ... battles have been raging on ... the Russian front, particularly around Orel.

If Hitler intended him to concentrate not only planes but troops and supplies in front of Orel because of the territory and ending the middle of May. The Reds correctly interpreted that concentration ... forces as a main Hitler ... effort ... Kharkov to the direction of Moscow.

It would not be aimed ... at the city, but toward encircling it from the south, cutting it off from the rest of Russia. The Nazi preparations also suggested attention to feint at a Caucasus drive (from the Kuban bridgehead) and a side-show ... of Leningrad.

The Reds consequently drew in their ... strength to face the Orel threat. Since then, constant terrific, but not specifically reported air battles have developed. The German planes have been striking at internal Russian production centers while the Russians have been going over daily to bomb the airfields.

These fights do not herald an opening of the promised offensives on either side, being merely air actions necessarily to be expected as a result of concentration of strength.

Indeed, since mid-May, Hitler's intuition around Orel seems to have changed. Neither there nor anywhere else along the front has there been any evidence of continued accumulation of supplies and men for a drive.

Only 45 per cent of his total air strength is now evident on the Russian front, more than half being left to face imminent invasion from us and the British, either through Norway or Sicily, or on the central Atlantic coastal line.

If Hitler does not strike in the east within a few days, he may face an offensive by the Russians. This openly-promised Moscow drive, however, is likely to be timed simultaneously with our invasions in order to catch the Hitler air force scattered.

So far, all evidence suggests Hitler has been forced to call off his Moscow drive because he has been unable to get supremacy of the air for it in the Orel area. He could not get it, and probably can not hereafter, because our Tunisian success required him to put all the planes he could spare into Italy, and elsewhere to protect himself against us.

The "peculiar complexities," promised by Churchill in connection with Russia already seem to be in operation in the air.

Guadalcanal Air Victory

Confusing official Navy accounts of our greatest South Pacific air battle against the Japanese over Guadalcanal have hindered any common understanding of that action. Navy Secretary Knox confessed self-mystification as to why the Japs sent over so many planes, saying no American convoy was present in those waters.

Next day, the Navy announced a convoy had been sailing nearby and the Japs got two ships. No one even sought to clear up the question of why so many Jap ships would attack Guadalcanal if a convoy was nearby.

What happened is this:

The Japs detected a convoy landing with supplies and called in a heavy force to get it. Our air force intercepted, shooting down 97 planes with a loss of two convoy ships.

MacArthur

A strong new jungle infiltration offensive by MacArthur obviously is underway in New Guinea, and shortly may clean out the string of Jap bases along the whole northwest coast.

The movement was disclosed indirectly by announcements that on three successive days, the Japs had bombed our forces at a point 120 miles beyond our last known lines.

MacArthur seems to have surrounded the Jap base of Lae by a flank move through the jungle up the coast. That base has been getting supplies at night from small boats out of Madang and Wewak. The reported Jap bombings at Bena Bena placed MacArthur nearly a week ago at a point within 40 miles of Madang.

The Army has been keeping the movement quiet, awaiting its full development.

Food Subsidy Quandry

Pros and Cons of Question Split Capital Ranks.

By JOHN GROVER

WASHINGTON—Pros and cons of the food subsidy program have split official Washington and Congress down the middle like a fried chicken.

Objective observers say the question offers a choice between two evils: (1) runaway inflation; (2) curtailed farm production.

The theory behind subsidies is simple. The government has imposed retail price ceilings. Farmer A calculates he can't sell his beans for less than, say, 10 cents a pound and pay growing costs. Canner B can't pay 10 cents a pound, plus increased labor costs, and stay in business. The price at which he'd have to sell to allow himself a profit and the jobber, wholesaler and retailer a profit, would push the retail price above the allowed ceiling.

So the government steps in and buys the beans from Farmer A at 10 cents, and then turns around and sells them to Canner B at 7 cents a pound. That lets the distributive agencies make a fair profit and the consumer isn't knifed in the pocketbook.

The loss occasioned by 10-cent purchase and 7-cent resale is paid out of federal funds. That's a subsidy.

From the beginning of price control, subsidies were advanced as the best control measure. They were shelved first because Leon Henderson advocated subsidies, and Henderson got in bad with congress. Jesse Jones, more popular on Capitol Hill, was then tentatively given the administration's subsidy ball—but the farm bloc still wouldn't agree to subsidies, and they were shelved again.

Coal Strike Effort

The coal strike really resurrected subsidies. John L. Lewis hit a chord every grocery buyer understood when he harped on food price increases as justification for wage increases. Subsidies were dusted off to roll back prices and steal Lewis' thunder.

Organized labor enthusiastically supported subsidies. The farm bloc, particularly southern elements, howled opposition. That is the basic schism over subsidies—the farm bloc versus the labor bloc, country versus city.

The farm bloc argues that wages have risen faster than farm prices. (Federal figures do show that wage earners spend less of every dollar for food than in the last war.) They argue for letting farm prices go up, at least to match wage boosts already granted. They want the higher prices now, not a subsidy stopgap that will disappear with war's end.

There's a special explanation for the vehemence of southern opposition. The subsidies so far apply only to food. Food crops aren't southern mainstays as are tobacco, cotton and industrial farm produce. The south won't benefit so much under a food subsidy program.

There are economists of standing on both sides of the subsidy fence. Pros argue that subsidies actually are cheaper than any other controls. They say that a 2-cent meat subsidy at the source means a 3-to-4 cent saving at retail, through lower profit percentages added along the distributive line.

They hold subsidies, paid from federal funds, are more equitable because federal funds derive from taxes based on ability to pay.

Anti-subsidy economists say food subsidies are only a beginning, that once they are assured, pressure groups will begin agitating for subsidies on furniture, clothing, rent and other living cost factors. They foresee a terrific national debt increase. In addition to the cost of armaments, if the subsidy principle once gets a foot in the door.

Cost of Administration

The antis also discount the argument that subsidies are cheaper. Costs of administration, they say, would outmatch initial savings. Finally, they say the limited benefits of subsidy will not be enough to assure full production by disgruntled farmers.

Middle-grounders expect some production loss under subsidies as opposed to a "free" market, but see the matching gain of a controlled price structure, free from the threat of an inflation spiral.

That's the subsidy picture. Some political analysts profess to see the administration's support of subsidies as a move calculated to win urban grocery-buying support in the 1944 election, holding them a surer bet than farm elements who took some healthy swings at the New Deal last year at the polls.

Based on the preliminary line-up of vocal congressmen, it's essentially a split between produce-selling country and grocery-buying city groups, the farm bloc versus the labor bloc, with the farm bloc charging the administration with supporting the city against the country.

Fast Work, Harve

By The Associated Press

KNOXVILLE, TENN.—This is a tall story from the timbers and lumberman Harve Rogers swears by. His workmen felled a large tree in Claiborne county. The tree fell upon the mountainside. After a 16-foot log was cut through the tree, the log slid endways out of the bark down the mountain. The bark of the tree—which was a poplar and not slippery elm—just remained where it fell.

Roosevelt on the Spot

He Faces Embarrassing Decision on Strike Bill.

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON, June 23—When the Connally-Smith anti-strike legislation was laid on the President's desk, Mr. Roosevelt was "on the spot" as he has been few times before in the 10 years he has been in the White House.

There were only three possibilities: (1) to veto the measure; (2) to sign it; and (3) to allow it to become law after ten days, without signature. For all practical and political purposes, the last two could be grouped together, with the split-hair exception that in the latter case the President would be dodging the issue by allowing to become a law a bill for which he had no enthusiasm.

The President and his advisers must have seen that signing the bill would alienate labor. The AFL through William Green and the CIO through Philip Murray protested it and appealed for a veto. A number of other independent unions joined in the parade.

To antagonize this great bloc of voters meant to jeopardize the fourth term or at least control of the 1944 ballots to such an extent that all the President's plans for prosecution of the war or promulgation of the Four Freedoms peace might be sidetracked in a new and hostile administration.

On the other hand, veto of the bill meant that it would be immediately interpreted politically as a fourth term bid. Commentators would figure that the President was afraid of labor.

To veto the measure meant several things more. It meant alienation of the votes in the purely agricultural states (many of them in the South and Southwest, where political wounds are just now being healed); and going against the expressed opinions of many youngsters in the services. Some of the boys in uniform have publicly expressed dissatisfaction with the attitude of labor. They think that something must be done to curb strikes that interfere with the flow of vital war materials.

Furthermore, to veto the bill or sign it meant to play right into the hands of some of the more politically-minded members of congress. If they had any sense of humor left about the very unfunny spot they were placed in, the President and his advisers must have gotten a chuckle out of scanning the names of 100 Democrats and 131 Republicans who voted for the bill in the house and the 63 senators who cast their "yeas." Here were friends and foes alike and among the foes a good many who must have had a wicked glint in their eyes and a "How are you going to wriggle out of this, Mr. President," on their tongues.

Whether you are Republican or Democrat, pro or anti-New Deal, you might well give a moment to pitying the poor President in a spot like that.

Farm Comeback

Properties Acquired by ... Insurance Companies in '30's Being Sold to Single Owners.

Before another crop-year rolls around ... companies expect to be substantially ... the business of farm operation as a real ... wartime high prices for farm products ... carefully planned rehabilitation program ... has put many formerly rundown farms in ... for the real estate market.

Holgar B. Johnson, president of the ... of Life Insurance, estimates companies ... have cut their ownership from 100,000 ... worth more than $1,000,000,000 at the depression's worst, to between 15,000 and 20,000 ... at present.

The farms still on hand have a value ... perhaps $200,000,000, but are a fraction of ... nation's 6,000,000 farming establishments ... grows smaller as more and more ... individual ownership.

Prices on the whole have improved ... farm income, but insurance men are ... unanimous in the opinion that there ... been an inflation in farming property ... occurred during and after the last war.

Says President Johnson:

"To date, farmers have avoided inflation, over-expansion, and life insurance ... men are very much interested in having ... maintain sound farm financing, especially ... this period."

THE war-born revival in farm real ... promises to get the insurance companies out of their unwilling period of farm ownership substantially without loss despite ... sums spent to get the properties back into ... for resale.

Some 10 per cent of the properties sold ... been returned to their former owners and ... other 50 per cent sold to tenants placed on ... farms by insurance companies.

In the process of clearing away the debris of the farm mortgage debacle of the past decade the insurance companies have spent more ... $100,000,000 in rehabilitating properties and finding plenty of takers for farmsteads ... have had a physical face-lifting and had ... soil and marketing problems tackled by experts.

While war-born high prices have put ... finishing touches on a steadily improving ... real estate situation for the life companies, ... important source of long-term farm credit, ... result has also been due in large part to ... planning on the part of the companies ... eventual resale.

The companies have poured their money ... amounts varying from a few hundred to ... thousands of dollars into repair, rebuilding ... and painting of homes, barns, outbuildings, ... fencing, installation of water systems, soil ... provement programs and the planning ... setting-up of crop rotation schemes to improve ... fertility.

As a consequence, in addition to purchases ... by tenants and former owners, 17 per cent ... the properties have been sold to other farmers, ... 10 per cent to investors, 3 per cent to ... dwellers returning to the farms, and 19 ... cent to what the institute calls "miscellaneous ... buyers—rich men buying play farms, persons ... ers looking for a little home in the country ... and so on.

THE return of foreclosed farms to individual ... has not progressed evenly throughout the ... country.

In Illinois, Indiana and Ohio in the mid-west, and in the cotton states of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, insurance company ownership of farms has already returned to ... what insurance men describe as "normal."

In some other areas the progress has been slower, with the Dakotas described as ... the "sticky" spots.

Eastern seaboard farm owners, never ... tively large borrowers from the insurance ... companies, had a lower foreclosure experience ... and the situation is now described as "better ... than normal," on the whole.

At the same time, insurance companies ... enormously improved their own status. ... They are not, generally speaking, farm ... owners of farms but are primarily mortgage ... investors which need a steady return on ... money from solvent farmers to carry out ... insurance business.

Besides being well on the way out as farm ... owners, President Johnson says:

"Only five years ago about 15 per cent of ... farm mortgage interest was being reported ... delinquent. Today there are practically no ... cases."

Since the life insurance companies have ... $900,000,000 of mortgages on farms ... outstanding at present, the almost complete ... solvency of their farmer-borrowers is a ... healthy development.

Clue of Events To Come Seen in Message to French

While DeWitt Mackenzie is on vacation, this daily column is being written by Max Hill, former chief of The Associated Press Bureau in Tokyo.

By MAX HILL

The day the axis radio told us there would be an invasion of Europe—June 22nd—has passed without any sign of activity on the part of allied forces.

There was on that day, however, one dramatic clue to events to come. The British Broadcasting Co. in a program beamed to France said the following:

"Be ready!"

The French were told eight months ago that the allies would let them know of invasion in time for them to give every aid possible. The broadcast, urged the French to be prepared and ready to act at any moment henceforth.

Now this may be just another phase of our excellent campaign to confuse the Nazis, but it will be a bitter blow to French morale should it be another ruse.

Would Welcome Invaders

It is obvious that in some parts of France the inhabitants would welcome allied invaders and do all possible to assist them. The Germans are aware of this, too, and they know also that this area is more vulnerable than other parts of Europe.

It would be difficult, if not impossible, to send an invasion force through Holland or Belgium because of the type of coastline encountered there.

The BBC broadcast was the most specific reference to a probable invasion point which has been made to date.

In Washington, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox told a press conference, "Preparations for the second front are going on."

His remarks were made in response to an inquiry about the Russian communique which Moscow broadcast on the second anniversary of the Russo-German war. The Russians asked bluntly for a second front, and said victory was impossible without it.

There are several ways to view this development. Could it be that the Russians fear—or know—there will be no second front in Europe this year?

Reassurance for Russia

If so, the remarks of Secretary Knox must have reassured them, and he also admitted indirectly that he could understand why the Russians didn't want to become involved with the Japanese at this time.

There has been much criticism, most of it unwarranted, about Russia's attitude in the Far East. Secretary Knox made it clear that at least the Navy does not hold this against the Soviets. The most important part of what he said on this subject was this:

"Russia doesn't want an involvement out there while she has the German enemy engaged on the west * * *."

Only a few hours ago there was an added indication of how closely we are working with our Russian allies. Captain Eddie Rickenbacker has been in Moscow since Sunday as a special representative of Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

Aviation spokesman expect that 60-ton transport planes will be flying regularly by 1945.

NAZIS TO GIVE ITALY LITTLE INVASION AID

Berlin Broadcasts Say Not Much Help To Be Given.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 23—The Germans, still playing an invasion guessing game, were represented by the Berlin radio today as picking Italy as the most likely allied landing spot but there were indications they expected their junior partner to meet the initial attack with little aid from the Nazi war machine.

A Berlin broadcast recorded by the ministry of information promised help "in case of a decisive battle on Italian soil," implying that until then Mussolini's legions should shoulder the greater part of the weight.

There were some reports the Nazi already were rushing troops and planes to the Calabrian coastline. But there was no confirmation.

The Berlin broadcast hinted Mussolini has called home his troops that have been policing occupied territory in Europe.

Erich Schneyder, editor-in-chief of Transocean News agency, said flatly in a Berlin broadcast yesterday that "Italy is expecting invasion."

As for the Soviet front, Capt. Kurt Jeserich declared in another German broadcast the Nazis are "continually" increasing their strength for "a new action" against the Russians.

Crawford County Soon To Be Center of Steel Industry

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 23—The exact geographical center of America's war-time steel industry, steadily moving westward, will shortly come to rest in what was once the yard of a little one-room Quaker school house outside of Bucyrus, O.

There is no aid or comfort to the enemy in this information and Hitler or Hirohito could bomb the site, now a farmer's field, without coming within many miles of a steel plant.

Experts who juggle the figures of the steel industry to determine the general direction in which the relocation of steel plants moves from year to year explain that the "geographical center" is an abstraction and that its movement at the moment is influenced by the installation of big new steel tonnage facilities on the Pacific coast and in Utah to cope with war demands.

The geographical center will come to rest a mile north and west of Bucyrus sometime later this year as facilities now being constructed by Columbia Steel Corp., a U. S. Steel subsidiary, at Geneva, Utah, and by Henry J. Kaiser at Fontana, Cal., are brought into full production, unofficial tabulations indicate.

The last official calculation of the steel "center of gravity," made by the American Iron & Steel institute in 1940, set its location under an apple tree about 31 miles to the east and a little to the north of the present location. The tree was in a field about eight miles northeast of Mansfield, O., near the tiny settlements of Olivesburg and Paradise Hill.

The line has pulled a little to the south this year because of the construction of a Sheffield Steel plant near Houston, Tex., the first southern district mill west of the Mississippi river.

FRENCH GUERILLAS WRECK NAZI TRAINS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 23—The combination of allied air raids and railway sabotage inside France has been immobilizing about 200 trains daily, according to information reaching Fighting French headquarters here through persons escaping from German-occupied Europe.

Both the airmen who swooped across the English channel and the French guerrillas operating behind enemy lines concentrate on crippling transportation, a headquarters spokesman said today, particularly by putting railway locomotives out of commission. Many locomotives beyond range of the marauding flyers succumb to the boiler-wrecking tactics of the saboteurs or are wrecked in derailments engineered by guerrillas.

FURTHER REDUCTION OF NEWSPRINT SEEN

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 23—W. G. Chandler, until recently director of the war production board's printing and publishing division, declared today further mandatory newsprint curtailments are in prospect for the fourth quarter of this year "unless circulation and advertising volume decline."

He told the International Circulation Managers' association "reality is compelling those charged with a fair distribution of available supplies for newspapers to be busily engaged in planning further reductions in allowable quotas of newsprint.

"This immediate five per cent cut will take care of the exigencies of the moment. War economics may develop reduction in advertising that will cause newsprint to balance with a known depline in production. All the experts predicted advertising losses in late 1942—and for each successive month of 1943. But each month, media records tell a different story.

"Unless circulation and advertising volume decline, your industry advisory group will be compelled to recommend to WPB further mandatory curtailments for the fourth quarter of 1943.

"Never in your business life has your responsibility been greater to use your judgment, experience and thinking to properly distribute your newspaper. In peacetime years, your task was to distribute and sell the greatest quantity of paper in terms of printed newspapers, without too great regard for how or when, or where. Since last January, you have operated under mild restrictions necessary to the saving of cricital materials — gasoline, rubber, zinc and paper."

mean the production of coal will be resumed under the conditions ordered by the war labor board, and I think that's all the country is interested in. It appears that the new deadline is Halloween, when pumpkins frighten children."

Still Disobeys Board

Whether this victory claim was shared by a majority of the board was uncertain. Technically Lewis was still in defiance of the board. He refused to sign the contract as directed, calling it "an infamous yellow-dog contract," even though it appeared he was accepting the wage terms of that contract.

Whether this means the miners, contrary to traditional policy, agreed to work without a contract is a matter of interpretation.

It was possible the WLB might yet protest to the President against Lewis' condition that the government must retain direction of the mines.

Ohio Mines Reported Still Idle Today

By The Associated Press

BELLAIRE, O., June 23—Ohio's coal mines remained closed today despite an order by John L. Lewis instructing miners to return to the pits under government control.

Adolph Pacifico, vice president of District 6, United Mine Workers of America, said he had not received "personal" word from Lewis, president of the UMW, about the order and until he did he would not order the miners to return.

"It will be hard to get many of our men to go back to work," Pacifico said. "I never saw a group of men so dissatisfied with the way the administration has kicked our contract around."

Pacifico said also that wives of some miners were threatening to quit cooking, and washing their husbands' overalls, if the men obeyed the back-to-work order.

AKRON, O., June 23—A picture of aviation's future different from the usual dreams was presented here today by Dr. J. C. Hunsaker, chairman of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, the leading scientific promoter of American aviation.

Giant land planes will be slow in coming, but bigger flying boats may be expected soon. One of the most likely revolutions will be turbine engines driven by hot gases.

Dr. Hunsaker said the barrier to giant land planes is the landing gear. In the present state of the art of building wheels, brakes and landing mechanism the weight of much bigger planes cannot be supported.

There will be, said Dr. Hunsaker, no sense in putting a dozen engines into an airplane, because the complications introduced become too prohibitive. But six-engine flying boats are likely soon. They don't have the landing gear handicaps.

Recent improvements in gas alone promise to eclipse the Diesel motor for a time and hold back production of large Diesels.

"I can assure you," he said to scientists at the dedication of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.'s new research laboratory, "that there are many promising new ideas at the laboratory level which will be applied."

the previous night, and at Hals, which was hit by U. S. Flying Fortresses in daylight yesterday.

RAF fighter planes simultaneously carried out intruder patrols over Holland and France.

It reported that 33 British bombers and one fighter had failed to return.

Forty-four bombers were lost in the Monday night raid on Krefeld.

Muelheim, one of the smaller towns in the Ruhr, was described as a satellite of the great industrial center of Duisburg, which is situated at the junction of the Rhine and the Ruhr.

It is an important center of the German steel industry as well as the site of large railway car and locomotive repair shops. It also is one of the principal outlets from the Ruhr to southern Germany by rail.

Oberhausen Also Hit

A DNB report broadcast by Berlin and recorded by The Associated Press said Oberhausen had been hit as well as Muelheim. Oberhausen, located only a few miles from Muelheim, was attacked by the RAF the night of June 14.

The German report said 24 of the raiding bombers were destroyed. As usual, the broadcast described the damage as "a terror raid," and acknowleged "heavy damage."

The continuing offensive has carried explosives to German Europe in conveyor-belt fashion, the Muelheim raid marking the fourth night in a row the RAF has been over the continent.

A DNB broadcast asserted the allies had sufferd their "greatest defeat" so far over western Europe by losing 135 planes in a period of slightly more than 24 hours from early Tuesday until early today.

Official British and American reports, however, listed 107 bombers as lost.

WPB Clears Way For Articles Needed on Farm

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 23 — The war production board today directed manufacturers and wholesalers to set aside for sale to farm distribution outlets specific quantities of about 50 hard-to-obtain articles needed on farms.

The list includes auger bits, batteries, chains, chisels, drills, grain scoops, grease guns, harness, hose, small motors, pails and tubs, pipe fittings, pliers, screw drivers, shovels, tire pumps, valves and wrenches.

The order requires wholesalers who regularly supply the outlets to set aside out of inventory and future shipments a specified percentage of each item on the list.

CANCELLED NAVY OIL CONTRACT STUDIED

House Committee To Seek More Information.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 23—The Navy's now-cancelled contract with Standard Oil for development of the Elk Hills, Calif., reserves held the spotlight here today. Assistant Attorney General Norman M. Littell told the house public lands committee the deal was more far-reaching than the deficits feared dome leases of the 20s but emphasized he was not questioning the Navy's "good faith." Thereupon Chairman Peterson, Democrat of Florida, decided to exact more information with resumed hearings Friday. Secretary Knox asked to be heard.

Peterson also named a group to appear before the house rules committee in search of authority to visit the Elk Hills region. At the same time, the senate took up a resolution by Senator Nye, Republican of North Dakota, for a separate inquiry.

Senate opponents of the administration's program to stabilize price rollbacks with government money forced the issue to the floor despite efforts to block their strategy.

A move to save the emasculated security administration, which the house once voted virtually to abolish, was being made meanwhile in drawn-out conferences on the agriculture supply bill. A compromise was advanced whereby war food administrator would supervise the much-criticized loan and tenant programs of the FSA.

GALION NORTH ELECTRIC EMPLOYES GET RAISE

1,300 Persons Affected by War Labor Board Order.

WASHINGTON, June 23—The war labor board today awarded a three-cent hourly wage increase to employes of the North Electric Manufacturing Co. of Galion, O., affecting about 1,300 persons represented by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL).

The board also ordered the company and union to negotiate wage classifications subject to board approval and established a progressive scale with automatic five-cent increases after four months and after a year with starting rates 50 cents an hour for men and 43 cents for women.

The increases are retroactive to Sept. 12, 1942, but may not be put into effect until approved by the director of economic stabilization because the company seeks price relief.

RAF Officials Tells How Rome Can Escape Bombs

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 23—An RAF commentator made clear today that Rome could be removed definitely and permanently from under the threat of allied bombing alone if it were made an open city and the United Nations were convinced it was not participating in the axis war effort.

The commentator, who would not permit the use of his name, emphasized that this did not mean a decision had been reached to bomb the Italian capital.

We Can Take It—
We Have Every Reason

The enemies who began an undeclared war against us are learning things they did not know about the American people.
We who remain at home can meet all the sacrifices and hardships that may be required of us. Beside the priveleges we have enjoyed—and will know again when this war is over—the restrictions we are facing seem insignificant. And going cheerfully without the things to wage this war is the least we owe to our men on the fighting fronts.

Bell Scores Five Heat Wins To Take Driving Lead

Marion Pilot Enjoys Harness Racing Field Day.

By LOREN W. TIBBALS
Marion Star Sports Editor

BY scoring five wins in five out of nine starts on last night's Little Grand Circuit harness racing program at the Marion county fairground, veteran driver Hugh Bell of 207 South Main street joined Gene Cartinal of Hopedale at the top of the fast-stepping county.

Bell's newest successes hikes his heat victory total for the first 11 days of the meeting to 16 Cartinal, driving in only one three-heat race, scored a single heat victory to up his total to 14 wins and two below Bell's leading pace.

According to Frank M. Foster, veteran Marion race promoter and secretary for the current meeting, Bell is the first local driver ever to make a serious bid for driving honors in a lengthy Marion harness meeting.

First 5-Heat Winner

In two earlier Little Grand Circuit sessions Bell racked four heat wins in a single evening but last night he became the nation's first 1943 five-heat winner in a single program.

The Marion reinsman's outstanding set of wins last night in the $600 2:14 trot stake were with Bellanbe, a handsome black gelding the property of Parker Mitchell of Perryman, Ind.

In winning the first and second heats of the stake feature Bellanbe trailed Joe Wyn, owned by Brady Brothers of Payne and driven by Ernie Smith of Washington C. H., for seven-eighths of a mile in each heat. The fast-stepping Ohio-owned trotter succumbed to Bellanbe's sizzling stretch drive in each of the opening heats.

Finishing far behind Bell's Bellanbe in the first two tests, Charming Sister, driven by Gabe Cartinal, was keyed for the important third event. While the heat had no bearing whatsoever on the final results of the race it was unusually important as a contest between Bell and the Hanover wizard. The latter's mastery as a top-notch driver was displayed to perfection as he waited his chance before booting Charming Sister into the lead and ultimately to first place in the heat. At the same time Bell left no stone unturned in his bid for the Little Grand Circuit driving championship. He sent the stately Bellanbe home second less than a length behind the heat winner.

Green Pacer Wins

Piloting C. A. Faulkner's Nan Abbe, a green pacer, Bell scored 1-1-1 in sweeping the 2:26 pace. The Sidney-owned horse's main competition was offered by Millie Reynolds, a member of Harry Eckert's Mt. Vernon stable which is being handled by Eddie Dunwoody of Newark. Another strong contender was Aristocracy, owned by Eugene Thornton and driven by Johnny Mallalieu of Harrington, Del.

The supplementary attraction—the 2:18 pace—was won by Judge Patchen, owned by John E. Kelly of Bangor, Me., and driven by Harry Short of Washington C. H. The New England prize finished second in the first and third heats and was first in the middle event. Winner of the first mile was Bill Taylor, driven by Clint Hodgins, and Whiz, guided by "Two-Hole" Jack Brown, won the final test over the nine-sixteenths of a mile stunt.

In this event Bell drove Little Jack, owned by Jack Seiter of near Agosta. The Marion county pacer ended up 6-4-5.

The daily double, combining Bellanbe in the second race and Nan Abbe in the third, paid $21.80. The quinella on the seventh race, won by Nan Abbe, paid $13.00. This is the first time during the current meeting that the same driver, Bell in this case, has been the driver of the horses figuring in these added betting attractions.

1,800 See Races

Attendance at last night's nine-dash program numbered about 1,800, According to George Reverman, manager of the mutuel plant, pari-mutuel betting totaled slightly less than $7,000. To date wagering in the mutuels alone has totaled around $80,000. The auction sales have grossed an average of $1,000 a night.

Doc Parshall To Race Here Tonight

World's Greatest Reinsman To Pilot King's Counsel in 3-Year-Old Pace.

NEARLY as much a part of the racing sport as the grass homestretch is Dr. H. M. Parshall of Urbana, who for 39 years piloted Grand Circuit horses and still is one of the nation's foremost harness jockeys despite the fact he is campaigning with only one horse.

"Doc", as he prefers to be called, will be seen in his racing colors for the first time this year in tonight's Little Grand Circuit feature—the three-year-old pace, stake in which nine horses are expected to respond to Starter Steve Phillip's "Go" signal.

Parshall brought his fabulous money winner, King's Counsel, from the North Randall track near Cleveland yesterday especially for tonight's feature. Possibly the horse will be seen a second time later in the week in a free-for-all event.

For a time Parshall considered skipping the Marion meeting because the backward spring weather made him unusually late in training the high-strung "King." However, after a number of near peak workouts on the mile track at Cleveland Parshall decided to go ahead with his plans for opening the season here.

Wins 7 of 11 Starts

Under the exacting hand of Parshall King's Counsel won seven of 11 starts last summer and at the same time boosted his total earning to well over $13,000. His outstanding achievement last year was the defeat of Thomas Thomas' Adios in the $5,000 two-year-old pace stake at Old Orchard, Me. In winning this outstanding stake event the horse owned jointly by Parshall and E. P. Cray of Bellows Falls, Vt., covered the second mile stuff in 2:02¼, a new heat mark for the historical stake.

Parshall is a graduate of the Indiana Veterinary college at Indianapolis. Shortly after his graduation in 1921 he returned to Hillsboro, O., where his family had moved. There he found his services in great demand but also found a shortage of cash among the hill folk. While there he purchased a pacer called Fondabelle and his driving career began.

He first gained national prominence when he led the nation's reinsmen with 50 race victories and twice as many heat wins. That year, one of the harness sport's grand old men, Tommy Murphy, retired and presented his already famous red, white and blue colors to the youthful Parshall.

In the next seven years he completely monopolized the national racing spotlight, averaging 58 race victories a season in piling up 408 triumphs. His best year in this stretch was in 1930 when he piloted 76 victors, a world's record at that time.

Wins Hambletonian Twice

In 1934, the next year after the end of the seven year period referred to above, Parshall drove 61 race winners including 'Lord Jim' in the rich Hambletonian trotting classic. His brother, Daryl, now with a U. S. Army veterinary battalion, finished second in that event. This is the only time in the history of the Hambletonian in which a brother combination finished 1-2.

Parshall, then 35, was the youngest driver ever to win the world's richest harness race. His brother, only 24, was the youngest driver ever to finish second.

In the fourteenth annual renewal of the Hambletonian five years later, Parshall repeated with Peter Astra. He is one of three men ever to win the classic more than once. Ben White has piloted three winners to trotting crown and Henry Thomas has two wins to his credit.

Parshall has attended almost every one of the nocturnal fairground programs of the current meeting. Although well-known among racing fans a stranger can easily distinguish Parshall in any crowd. If you don't know him, but want to, watch for a heavy-set, ruddy-faced quiet fellow who invariably has a toothpick in one corner of his mouth.

Brewers Round Out Ninth Straight Victory

The rampaging Milwaukee Brewers stood within a game and a half of the American association lead today as their sizzling winning streak continued unbroken.

They won their ninth straight game last night defeating St. Paul 4 to 3. League leading Indianapolis, meantime, lost ground in suffering a 3 to 1 setback at the hands of Columbus.

BOSOX IN HIGH GEAR, MOVE INTO TIE FOR THIRD WITH TRIBE

Seven Homers in Three Games Make Them Threat to League Leaders.

By The Associated Press

The Boston Red Sox are beginning to sock once more and at any time now they are likely to muscle in on the honeymoon the New York Yankees and Washington Senators have been enjoying at the top of the American League.

It took Boston a long time to get rolling. At the end of the first month of the season they were in the cellar.

But in the last three games Boston has blasted out seven homers against the best pitching the Philadelphia Athletics could muster and last night moved into a tie for third place with the Cleveland Indians, five games out of first place.

Problem Solved

The Red Sox opened the campaign with a desperate outfield problem, but they seem to have solved this by a succession of deals both in the minors and majors and have well earned the improvement they have made in the standings in the second month of the season.

In addition Cecil (Tex) Hughson, the lean pitching star of the Sox, has proved himself unquestionably the outstanding hurler in the league last night as he beat the Athletics 7-1 with five-hit pitching for his seventh victory and fourth straight.

Washington narrowed the gap between first and second place to two games by nosing out the Yankees with Mickey Vernon hitting a home run and a triple to star for the Senators.

The Chicago White Sox whipped the St. Louis Browns 5-3 in a night game to advance into a virtual tie for sixth place with the Athletics.

Dodgers Win

In the National League the Brooklyn Dodgers captured their third straight from the New York Giants 7-4 and cut the lead of the idle St. Louis Cardinals to two games.

Big Paul Derringer shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates 1-0 for the Cubs in a morning game at Chicago.

The Pirates, still short of infielders, had to use outfielder Johnny Wyrostek at third base after Bob Elliott was injured by a smashing grounder in the second inning. As a result Wyrostek made a two-base error in the seventh inning, a wild throw into the dugout that put Harry Lowrey on second, and Len Merullo scored him with a single.

Boston beat the Phillies 7-6.

Commercial Steel Scores 13-10 Victory Over Engineer Depot

Commercial Steel defeated the Marion Engineer Depot 13 to 10 at Garfield park and General Excavator downed the Waldo Dodgers 6 to 3 on the Lincoln park diamond last night in Industrial Commercial softball league games.

The steelers ranged up 10 safeties in downing the engineers who banged out 10 hits. The M.E.D. errors handed Commercial the three run margin that took the game.

The engineers jumped to a 2 to 0 lead in the first inning but a four-run surge in the second by Commercial furnished it with a lead that was never relinquished. The "clincher" was applied by the steelers in the last half of the sixth when five runs were tallied on a total of six hits.

Sparks, engineer third baseman, was the big gun in his team's batting order as two doubles and a single out of four trips to the plate. Whaley, Anderson, and Millington each got two hits for Commercial.

Ward, Waldo Dodger third baseman, opened the Excavator contest with a long home run. However, none of his team-mates seemed to pack his punch at the plate with the result that only three runs were scored by the Waldo team. A four-run fourth stanza for the diggers was the deciding factor of the tilt. Five bingles were made in this inning by Excavator batters.

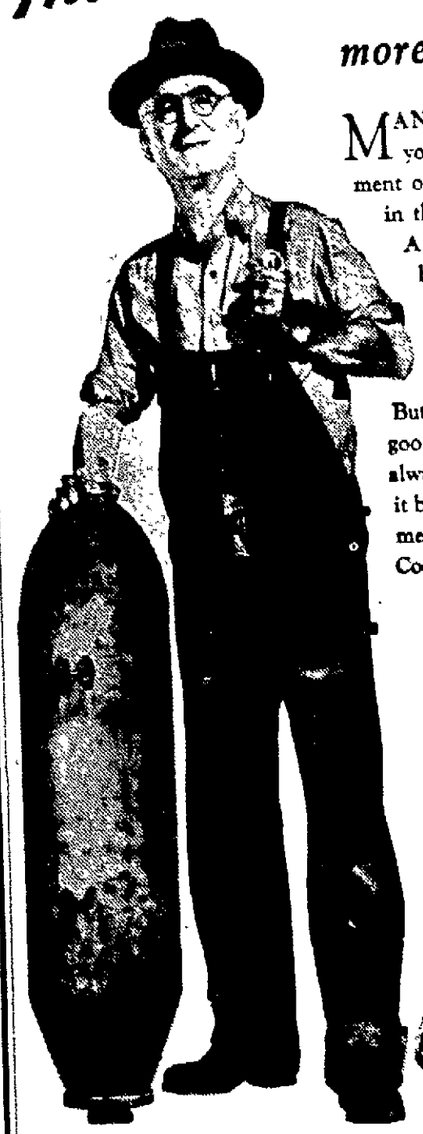
The rest-pause that refreshes

Welcome in peace... more welcome in war work



MANAGERS and personnel directors will tell you that regular rest-pauses plus the refreshment of ice-cold Coca-Cola increase contentment in their plants. Thus production is increased. A pause for Coca-Cola is a little thing in itself, but one of the little things that brighten a busy day.

You might think it strange that workers have such a welcome for a 5¢ soft drink. But Coca-Cola has something all its own in goodness. Made with a finished art, its taste always pleases. More than just quenching thirst, it brings a happy after-sense of complete refreshment. The only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself.

Drink Coca-Cola TRADE MARK Delicious and Refreshing 5¢

The best is always the better buy

Letters from plant managers from coast to coast emphasize that the little moment for an ice-cold Coca-Cola means a lot to workers in war plants. It's a refreshing moment on the sunny side of things . . . a way to turn to refreshment without turning from work.

900 Small Mirrors Sent To War by Canteen Women

More than 900 small mirrors have been collected by women of the Marion canteen for service men as a part of their war time service. The mirrors, 914 in all, have been forwarded to the medical and surgical relief committee of America in New York City to be placed in seamen's kits. The women are continuing their collection and anyone having small mirrors such as are discarded from purses are asked to contribute them.

The mirrors are used to signal for help by men who have been forced to take to life boats or rafts and have proven most successful in these emergencies.

Two teams from the canteen served as unofficial hostesses at the exhibit of Army equipment shown by the Marion Engineers depot last Wednesday. Serving in the afternoon were Miss Margaret Walrous, captain, Miss Esther Gutnery, Miss Barbara Fralich and Miss Marjorie Topliff, and in the evening Mrs. Charles Sherer, captain, and Misses Patricia Connelly, Joan Austin and Wilma Ehrick and Mrs. Judy Phelps were on duty. A letter expressing the appreciation courtesy extended the servicemen assigned for guard duty at the exposition, and wishing the organization continued success was received from Lt. Col. Andrew L. Fabens of the corps. "It is a feeling of great satisfaction to know that the women of this country are playing such a wonderful part in the war effort," he said.

The newly-furnished lounge at canteen quarters at the Union station is proving popular with service men, workers report. Many take advantage of the table and other conveniences for writing letters, others leave their baggage while waiting for trains or transferring or avail themselves of the quarters to just rest.

Permanent Shortage Of Food Seen by Bromfield

By The Associated Press

Bromfield predicted industrialization of American farms after the war and added "that means the virtual end of one-family farms."

Static Is Almost Eliminated by Small, New Device

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

AKRON, O., June 23 — The static which comes in on a radio set is picked up and set to work eliminating its own noise in a new control announced yesterday by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

The static is reduced from thousands of volts to about one-twenty thousandths of a volt, and the result is like a muffler on an auto, reducing static noise to a purr which does not drown out the radio.

The new system is being tested by military forces under conditions where static is a serious obstacle to Radar.

Gilbert Anderson, the inventor, said the crashing, static noise made by nearby lightning is reduced to about the loudness of the rustle of a sheet of paper.

The static eliminator will not be made for the public until after the war. It is a small device, of electronic tubes, made to plug into any radio set.

A new plastic foam, which is like frozen soap bubbles, and almost as light, was also announced today.

The army air corps is using it for insulating warplanes against extreme temperatures. It is both non-inflammable and waterproof.

RELIGIOUS STUDIES MAPPED AT Y.M.C.A.

Church Council Names Group To Aid Program.

A committee to work with Marion Mewhorter, program director of the Y.M.C.A., in setting up plans for religious instruction in boys' clubs of the Y next year has been appointed by the executive board of the Marion Council of Churches.

The board has selected the following members of the Council to serve on the committee: J. E. Frew, principal of Thomas A. Edison Junior High school, Rev. J. R. Dallas of Oakland Evangelical church, Mrs. J. B. Holloway, wife of the pastor of the Trinity Baptist church, Miss Margaret Huffman, director of religious education in the Epworth Methodist church, and Cecil Gahler, principal of Vernon Heights Junior High school.

Proposal for Bible classes in the spiritual program of Gra-Y and Hi-Y groups next year was made by Mr. Mewhorter at the monthly meeting of the entire council two weeks ago, Rev. E. M. Hertzler, president of the council, following Mr. Mewhorter's proposal, instructed the executive board to appoint a committee to cooperate with the program director in devising a system of religious instruction in the Y.

First meeting of the committee will probably be held within the next month at the Y. M. C. A. At that time Mr. Mewhorter will give his plan for Bible classes which the committee, together with Rev. Hertzler, will discuss.

Fuel Oil Users Urged To Lay in Supplies

CLEVELAND, June 23—Users of fuel oil for home heating purposes were urged by the regional office of price administration today to fill tanks soon after July 1 to eliminate a fall delivery rush.

Simultaneously, Frank A. Sinning, fuel oil rationing officer for northeastern Ohio, explained provisions of a simplified rationing program replacing emergency arrangements placed in effect last fall.

Under the new program, Sinning said, occupants of small homes, unusually large homes and automobile trailers will receive larger rations than were alloted them previously.

Revised List of Ceiling Prices Distributed Here

Lists of revised ceiling prices on meat have been given to Marion county stores, according to a report from the Marion price panel at a meeting yesterday. Any dealers who might have been overlooked are requested to call at the ration board to receive the list and all stores are reminded that the price list must be posted in a prominent place in the store. No other change in ceiling prices was reported at the meeting.

"But she can't [illegible] her!" Dicky asked quickly.

To Trap Ruth

Father [illegible] "I [illegible] He hopes to trap Ruth finally at her appointment at Hal Meredith's office tomorrow afternoon. But at two o'clock [illegible] morning when she gets that cue he expects her to come to the hotel and up to this apartment, using the facilities for getting here which Milner will afford her."

"Nice bird, Milner!" Dicky commented. "Will I ever be glad when I see the gyves upon his wrists."

"You'll not be alone in your joy," I told him dryly. "Of course Father could stop Ruth if he wished. But I think he wants her to come up for two reasons, one to let Milner believe that his pipe lines are working, the other, I really believe is an impish desire to have you deal with her in your own inimitable fashion. I told him about your memorable interview with Carolyn."

Dicky Abashed.

Dicky looked a bit abashed.

"Carolyn wasn't really fair game, poor kid!" he said, "although she did need a lathering, if ever a brat did. But I've always felt that I laid on the old hickory stick a bit too hard.

"But this baby,—this Ruth Herrick,—this far famed 'Wilderness Woman!' His voice fairly dripped venom, overlaid with the anticipation of a pleasurably sinister mission before him. "It certainly will be a pleasure to remove the cuticle from her, inch by inch." He leaned back in his chair, and looked around the living room of the balcony apartment, as if he were a general planning a campaign.

"Think I'll have Dad plant a couple of his men on that balcony," he said, "The door will be bolted on this side, but I can easily slip the bolts if I wish."

"You think she will be bringing men with her?" I asked breathlessly.

"Not in here," he replied. "She wouldn't be so crude. But it would be perfectly in accord with her style—and Milner's,—to have a couple of strong arm beauties [illegible]
